The Model Club Member is one who, wishing to have their rights respected, respects those of others, and who understands they are a member, and not the proprietor. They recognise that they are not number one, but one of a number, and is prepared to abide by the rules that have been passed for the benefit of all. They have a feeling for those who do the hard work and is ready to reward with praise those who have contributed to their comfort and enjoyment. Also, they never try to degrade the bar staff by saying “they are only a servant”, while the member is their master. They are courteous to all and, in short, a respectable member, and the more there are of them, the more the Club will flourish.
